

Letter from the Director

Aloha,

We here at CTSA wish you a happy and healthy holidays! 2020 has been a difficult year for most, and we hope that the holiday season and new year will bring you and your families comfort and joy.

As we reflect on the activities and accomplishments of the past year, I just want to once again express my gratitude to all CTSA stakeholders for your valuable partnership and contributions to our program. Looking forward to 2021, CTSA will continue its mission to help solve industry issues and develop sustainable aquaculture in Hawaii and the U.S affiliated Pacific Islands.

As always, we welcome your input on ways to improve our program and the services we provide to our valued stakeholders, especially as we prepare to usher in a new year of possibilities and plan our program activities for 2021. On a personal note, I hope that you are able to put work aside at this time to rest and recuperate from this challenging year. For those unable to be with family and friends during this holiday season, we extend a special tiding of comfort to you and your loved ones near and far.

Mahalo,
Dr. Cheng-Sheng Lee
Executive Director, CTSA

The Center for Tropical and Subtropical Aquaculture (CTSA) is one of five regional aquaculture centers in the United States established and funded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) under active grants 2016-38500-25751 and 2018-38500-28886. The regional aquaculture centers integrate individual and institutional expertise and resources in support of commercial aquaculture development. CTSA was established in 1986 and is jointly administered by the University of Hawaii and the Oceanic Institute of Hawaii Pacific University.
